Excerpts of the speeches made at Madison Square Park today at 1:00 P. M. when scores of thousands of CIO and AFL unionists gathered at the "Rally for America" demonstration, will be broadcast via shortwave to the embattled peoples of the Soviet Union and England, it was announced last night.

Main emphasis of the rally, union officials in charge said, will be to stress the solid backing of CIO and AFL members throughout the nation behind the foreign policy of President Roosevelt, and to urge the Administration to leave no step untaken to insure the military defeat of Hitler.

A last minute survey by the CIO and AFL officials in charge of the rally preparation indicated that more than 100,000 union members from hundreds of local unions in the city are expected to take part in the huge demonstration which will begin at 1 P. M.

SCHEDULED SPEAKERS

Speakers scheduled are Joseph Curran, president of the CIO Greater New York Industrial Union Council; John Sullivan, organizer, AFL Hotel Trades Council; Mayor LaGuardia; City Council President Newbold Morris; Bishop Francis J. McConnell; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise; George Brown, international vice-president Hotel and Restaurant Workers, AFL; Jacob Rosenberg, president AFL Local 802, Musicians; Michael J. Quill, president CIO Transport Workers Union, and Salvador Ocampo, Chilean Congressman and secretary of the Chilean Federation of Labor.

The unionists attending the rally today will hear read a series of resolutions upon which they will be asked to vote, committee members in charge of the preparations said.

Among these resolutions will be those urging:

Congress to repeal the Neutrality Act.

The President to use his influence with the British Government to urge the opening of a Western Front.

AFL and CIO unity around the paramount issue of crushing Hitlerism.

The AFL and CIO to appoint a delegation to join with the British labor delegation to Moscow.

The appointment of a delegation from the rally to go to Washington to lobby for the repeal of the Neutrality Act.

Initiation of a national "Plane and Tank Week for Russia."

CIO AND AFL UNITY

The resolutions, it was announced, were prepared by various CIO and AFL unions which have been active in mobilizing New York unionists for today's rally.

One of the last endorsements received by the "Rally for America" committee was a message last night from A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Mr. Whitney said such rallies of labor in the United States aid greatly in welding the people of America more and more behind the foreign policy of President Roosevelt.

NATIONWIDE DRIVE FOR FREE BROWDER PETITIONS BEGINS

Nationwide Campaign to Circulate 112,000 Pleas for Quick Release

Today marks the seventh month since the imprisonment of Earl Browder, and on many city streets, country roads, at many factory gates, union halls, in neighborhoods throughout the land, thousands of men and women will be asking the citizens of the country to correct an injustice inflicted on a man who was given an exorbitant sentence on a charge of a minor violation.

Saturday and Sunday have been set aside as National Browder Days by the Citizens Committee to Free Earl Browder, 1133 Broadway. Some 112,000 petitions will be circulated with a possible two million signatures to be collected which will then be presented to President Roosevelt, requesting immediate executive action in the case.

The Citizens Committee in pointing out how the people throughout the country are responding to the petition drive called attention to the 757 signatures collected in Phillips, Wis., and surrounding area where a majority of adults in that community signed. Another instance was recalled when on Wednesday in New York, after an open air meeting at Eighth Ave. and 38 St., more than 1,000 signatures were collected. Father Rice, a priest from San Antonio, Texas, approved the release of Browder by signing the petition to President Roosevelt.

"Tomorrow and Sunday may be the key to open the prison gates for Earl Browder," declared a Citizens Committee statement. "A great deal depends on us, and the number of signatures we can secure. Not a single person who, by any stretch of the imagination, can call himself a right progressive, will neglect his duty on National Browder Days. We are confident that every man and woman devoted to justice, will spend these two days to secure signatures for the freedom of Browder. Let us do it!"

Australia Sending Air Officer to U. S.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 24 (UP).—The Australian War Cabinet, seeking to strengthen Pacific defenses, decided today to exchange military officials with the United States.

The cabinet decided to send a senior Royal Australian Air Force officer to Washington as a liaison officer with the U. S. air staff and, it was said, the United States would send an air officer to its Australian Legation.

British Raid Naples, Bomb North Africa

ROME, Oct. 24 (UP).—British planes raided Italy's important west coast port of Naples last night for the third time in eight nights, the High Command reported today. British planes also were said to have raided Crotone on the Calabria Peninsula yesterday afternoon. In North Africa, British bombers reportedly caused some material damage at Boms. Tripoli also, was raided.

Indict Secretary to Fish For Hiding Viereck Link

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (UP).—George Hill, secretary to Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., was indicted today by a Federal Grand Jury on two counts of "corrupt perjury" in connection with the grand jury's investigation of foreign propaganda agents.

The indictment charged on one count that Hill allegedly falsified testimony by denying acquaintance with George Sylvester Viereck, who was indicted Oct. 8 on charges of omitting material facts in registering as a German propaganda agent. Count two charged that Hill allegedly committed perjury by dis-

FDR Backs LaGuardia for Reelection

Terms His Administration 'Most Honest' in City's History

By S. W. Gerson

President Roosevelt yesterday endorsed Mayor LaGuardia for reelection in a move which, while entirely expected, nevertheless dealt a body blow to Tammany hopes of recapturing City Hall and set the stage for far-reaching political realignments in New York politics. The President's endorsement, given at the press conference in a written statement permitting direct quotation, did not refer directly to the need for ignoring conventional party lines in the present critical period. But observers everywhere promptly interpreted the President's action as endorsing a local scale his policy of national unity against Hitlerism.

Roosevelt's unqualified endorsement of the Mayor—said to be the first White House intervention in a New York municipal campaign since the Civil War—was confined to praise of LaGuardia's administration as the most honest and efficient in his memory.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

The text of the President's statement follows:

"Although my voting residence has always been up-state, I have lived and worked in the city of New York off and on since 1894. I have known and observed New York's Mayors since that time. I am not taking part in the New York City election, but, because the city of New York contains about half the population of my state I do not hesitate to express the opinion that Mayor LaGuardia and his administration have given to the city the most honest and, I believe, the

All France Seethes; Nazis Delay Executions

Youth Escapes Holland, Tells of Thousands of 'Buried Guns'

With 50 more innocent French hostages slaughtered yesterday morning at Bordeaux, "tension" was admittedly rising among the French people, the United Press reported from Vichy last night.

Fearing even more angry risings among the French, Adolf Hitler himself ordered a postponement of the execution of 50 more hostages planned for today.

"The 100-for-one reprisals (for the killing of Col. Paul Fricch-Holla, Nazi commander at Nantes) were said to have caused bitter resentment among the French people," the United Press said.

Along with the 50 executed yesterday, Pierre L'etain of Florac Gironde, near Bordeaux, was also shot for "illegal possession of arms," it was said.

183 MURDERED

Total number of innocent victims of Nazi savagery—whom Marshal Henri Philippe Petain and his government at Vichy willingly agreed to sacrifice—is now 183.

"With 100 hostages held at Nantes and Bordeaux, 100 remain to be executed" on Monday by order of Adolf Hitler, the United Press said, unless the slayings of Col. Fricch and of an unidentified German major at Bordeaux are found.

Marshal Petain and Vice-Premier Francois Darlan appealed by radio for the French people to act as informers on the men who killed the German officers, but there has been no response.

NETHERLANDS 'LAND OF BURIED GUNS'

LONDON, Oct. 24 (UP).—Netherlands sources said today that their homeland rapidly is becoming a land of buried guns and metals, and that "underground shipments" of British fliers and Dutch sympathizers to Britain now is a major enterprise in the tulip country.

The free Dutch newspaper "Vrij Nederland" published information today brought from Holland by "special courier," a young Dutch engineer who escaped the country. He carried several dispatches which the newspaper printed. One said that many guns are buried and

FDR Acts to Halt Threat Of Coal Strike

Urges Lewis, Taylor to Begin Talks So That Output Can Go on

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (UP).—President Roosevelt tonight asked President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers (U. M. W.) and Myron C. Taylor, former board chairman of the United States Steel Corp., to "arrange immediately" for continued production at captive soft coal mines where a strike deadline is set for midnight Saturday.

Mr. Roosevelt's request was disclosed to a press conference by Chairman William H. Davis of the National Defense Mediation Board. He said the board panel considering the dispute had made no recommendations but had suggested direct negotiation or, if that failed, arbitration.

The controversy is between steel operators of captive bituminous mines and 33,000 U. M. W. miners over the union's demand for a union shop contract. Lewis earlier this week formally notified the board that a 30-day "truce" under which work has continued would end this Saturday, and implied that a strike would follow.

NAZIS IN DRIVE ON ROSTOV; PREPARE NEW MOSCOW PUSH

Timoshenko Takes Command On Southern Front

VOROSHILOV AND BUDENNY ARE ORGANIZING NEW ARMIES

LONDON, Oct. 24 (UP).—Stalled before Moscow after a 21-day battle in which they lost an estimated 300,000 men, the Germans were reported in a communique broadcast from the Moscow radio tonight to have struck heavy blows at the industrialized Donets Basin on the Southern Front.

Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, and Makeevka, ten miles northeast of Stalino, were mentioned as scenes of heavy fighting, along with Mozhaik and Maloyaroslavets, 60 miles west and 65 southwest of Moscow, where the battle for Moscow has been stalemated all week. The communique said 24 more German planes were shot down near Moscow today.

With the Germans reportedly bogged down on both the North and Central Fronts, Soviet spokesmen said that they were mobilizing vast new armies to take the offensive soon.

The shifts in the Red Army Command were explained in a dispatch from Kulyshyev, which said that Marshal Semyon Timoshenko had been transferred from the Central (Moscow) Command to the command of the Southern Front, where the Germans were now making fierce attacks in the direction of the Crimea and Rostov, and that Marshal Semyon Budenny of the Southern Front, and Marshal Kliment Voroshilov of the Northern Front had been relieved of duty so they could train "enormous new forces" whose "crushing blows the Germans soon will feel."

The Moscow Radio quoted Col. Zhytyk, Commander of the Soviet Air Force protecting Moscow, as saying that 205 German planes had been shot down in the vicinity of Moscow so far, 100 of them in the past few days, and that Soviet planes had killed about 8,000 Germans.

It was believed that these new armies were being mobilized and trained behind the Ural Mountains. Today, the battle still held at Mozhaik, according to the Moscow radio, and although the Germans attacked the Moscow defenses furiously, the main tide of battle was retreating to have shifted to the Southern Front, before Rostov, Kharkov and on the Perekop Isthmus connecting Crimea with the mainland.

It was not claimed that Moscow's peril had passed, however, and the Moscow radio was heard broadcasting an appeal by the newspaper Pravda for the people to "prepare to see the streets of Moscow become the scenes of violent fighting."

"This means that every street corner must be fortified, every window become a firing post, every citizen a soldier," the newspaper said. "The whole of Moscow today is one large military camp. It must become a trap into which the Germans put thousands of heads."

It was believed that the Germans would make another desperate assault to try to gain Moscow for a winter headquarters before the heavy snows. The radio reported that new German attacks were made yesterday "with particular ferocity" in the Mozhaik and Maloyaroslavets sectors—the latter is 65 miles southwest of Moscow—and that all attacks were repulsed.

MOSCOW RAIDED

Small groups of German planes have raided Moscow the past two days, dropping bombs at random and destroying several houses but no industrial objectives, the radio said. It appealed to the people of Moscow to speed up their war industrial output 200 per cent, warning that "everyone who weakens our defense work, who fails to achieve the utmost war production, will

Odessa Time-Bomb Kills Rumania General, 49 Nazis

BUCHAREST, Oct. 24. — Rumanian General Glogojanu, identified as the Commandant of Odessa, two German naval officers and at least 47 other Axis officers and men were blown to pieces when a time-bomb left behind by the Red Army exploded in captured Odessa, a Rumanian military report said today.

U. S. to Double Arms Output; Knox Sees Japanese Clash

Neutrality Vote Goes To Senate Group Today

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—As the Senate Foreign Relations Committee prepared to vote tomorrow morning on proposed amendments to the Neutrality Act, administration leaders in the Senate were understood to have reached a decision to press for sweeping revisions of the measure.

It was reliably reported that the administration leaders had canvassed the situation and come to the conclusion that a move to permit American ships to carry supplies directly to the nations fighting Hitlerism would muster a minimum of 55 votes.

This would give the administration a clear-cut majority even in the unlikely event that all of the other members of the 96-man body should side with the isolationist groups.

NATIONWIDE PRESSURE

A shift toward more decisive action beyond the ship arming bill passed by the House has come in the Senate as a result of strong pressure from all over the country. One problem still remaining was whether the issue of removing the restrictions which bar American ships from entering belligerent ports and combat zones would come before the Foreign Relations Committee when it begins to vote tomorrow at 10:30 A. M. or directly to the Senate Floor.

Some administration leaders seemed unwilling to risk a vote in

President Announces Big New Tank Program for Defense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (UP).—President Roosevelt today announced plans for a vast increase in armament production coincident with ominous warnings from Secretary of Navy Frank Knox that a "collision" with Japan appears inevitable.

Knox told a group of ordnance manufacturers and high Naval officers that "the situation in the Far East is extremely strained." He said "we are satisfied in our minds that Japan will not give up her expansion program, and that if it pursues that course, a collision is inevitable."

And, writing in tomorrow's issue of the Army and Navy Journal, he said the Orient "is like a vast powder keg—potentially ready to explode with a rear that will be heard all the way across the Pacific."

TO DOUBLE TANK OUTPUT

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed to his press conference that tank production is to be doubled as the first move in a long-range program to provide a huge reservoir of American machines to defeat the Axis.

He said the program could now be discussed publicly in view of House and Senate approval of the new $5,985,000,000 Lend Lease fund, and made clear that doubling of tank production is only one phase of a gigantic project.

Soviet Sailors Enjoy music on the after deck of the S.S. Petrovski, the first Soviet ship to arrive in New York since the start of the war in 1939. Petrovski, shown above, at the foot of Pineapple St., Brooklyn, will sail soon for home with an American cargo.

Soviet Ship Petrovski Here on Supply Mission

Reporters Get New Slant of Seamen's Life in Visit to Vessel

Stories of Red Army men singing before going into battle came to mind yesterday as reporters visited the crew of the Soviet ship Petrovski, the first Soviet ship to arrive in New York since the start of the war, which will soon set sail with a cargo of American supplies through "sub" infested seas.

Four strongly built seamen, off duty, were singing a famous old Russian sailors' folk song on the sunny after deck of the ship at the foot of Pineapple St., Brooklyn, as the visitors arrived.

Their voices blended with the instruments they played. One broad shouldered young fellow with blue eyes awayed with the accordion he was pressing. Another strummed a guitar. A banjo and a mandolin made up the rest of the pieces of the after deck orchestra.

SONG OF THE PEOPLE

Their voices pealed over the East River waters as they sang the old song of the "Yablochko," the "little apple," that keeps rolling on—the song that the sailors sang at Odessa as they fought the Nazi foe in the siege that ended a few days ago.

In the ship's small salon, meanwhile, the captain, a sturdy old navigator named Fedot Vlasov, was talking of the spirit of the Soviet people he left behind him in Vladivostok last summer.

"The Soviet people," said the captain, "are all united to do everything possible to defeat the Nazis."

Captain Vlasov, who has the great responsibility of bringing a cargo to port to aid the armies that are defending the peoples of the world against the Nazi barbarians, was very patient with some of the questions he was asked.

He smilingly refused to discuss the route that he took from the Far East to Seattle and said he couldn't tell the route he would take home. But he answered a host of questions about discipline on the ship, Soviet marriage laws and other matters that didn't affect the hazards of the war.

MARRIAGE AT SEA

The marriage of a young able seaman and a stewardess at sea last August was the subject of the largest number of questions. Some of the reporters were amazed to find that a country existed where seamen could lead normal married lives while at sea.

Another seaman is the husband of the ship's doctor, a handsome young woman.

Down in the seamen's messroom and social hall there was more music. The familiar Lenin corner was there, and the pictures of Lenin, Stalin and Petrovsky, the veteran Ukrainian leader, after whom the ship was named.

The same pictures appeared in the salon on the upper deck.

This Pretty Girl is the ship's doctor on the Soviet ship Petrovski in Brooklyn. At her right is Captain Fedot Vlasov, the ship's skipper, who spent 36 of his 53 years at sea.

Chess sets strike the eye of a visitor to the seamen's social hall and their cabins. Almost every member of the crew seems to play chess and the champion of the ship, a young dark-skinned native of eastern Siberia, enjoys real prestige.

This young chess champion belongs to one of the small Mongolian nationalities that have made great advances under the Soviet national policy.

The Petrovski, built in Holland more than 20 years ago, displaces 3,371 tons. The second Soviet ship to arrive here since the start of the war, the Decabrist, of 7,363 tons, came into Jersey City two days ago.

'Russia's Position Analyzed'

The following letter riddling the false and pro-Nazi arguments that the Soviet Union was ever an ally of Nazi Germany appeared in the New York Times yesterday. The Daily Worker reprints it in full here as an interesting analysis of the Soviet Union's consistent stand against both fascist aggression and the intrigues of the Chamberlain government.

To the Editor of the New York Times:

In recent editorials you have referred to the "alliance" between Russia and Germany. Surely it is time we stopped spreading the myth that an "alliance" existed between the U. S. S. R. and Germany prior to June 22, 1941. This "alliance" theory, constantly reiterated, has done a great deal of harm to good relations and understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union, and indirectly has served Hitler's purpose.

I should like to quote no less an authority than Prime Minister Churchill, who was realist enough to see, long before the war began, that the Soviet Union and Germany could not be "allies," and who recognized the fact that the non-aggression pact of August, 1939, and all the actions of Russia subsequent to that date were measures to curb further Nazi expansion.

In a speech on May 9, 1939, Mr. Churchill, who was at that time extremely critical of the appeasement policy of the Chamberlain government, said:

"To the east of Europe lies the enormous power of Russia, a country whose form of government I detest, but which at any rate seeks no military aggression upon its neighbors, a country . . . profoundly menaced by Nazi hostility . . . how imprudently foolish we should be, when dangers are so great, to put needless barriers in the way of the general association of the great Russian mass with resistance to an act of Nazi aggression."

In a speech in the House of Commons on April 13, 1939, Mr. Churchill said:

"The other day I tried to show the House the deep interest that Russia had against the further eastward extension of the Nazi power. It is upon that deep, natural, legitimate interest that we must rely, and I am sure we shall hear from the government that the steps they are taking are those which will enable us to receive the fullest possible cooperation from Russia, and that no prejudices on the part of England or France will be allowed to interfere with the closest cooperation between the two countries."

"This was the period when tension was mounting. Hitler had occupied the rump of Czechoslovakia and the full significance of Munich was obvious even to the most wishful appeaser. Chamberlain had guaranteed Poland and Rumania against Nazi aggression, and, as a result of pressure by the British public and Parliament, had begun his half-hearted negotiations with the Soviet Union."

REJECTED SOVIET PLEA

A Soviet proposal to hold a conference of European countries menaced by Hitler was rejected. A further Soviet proposal for active Russian military cooperation in the defense of Poland was haughtily rejected by Colonel Beck, who only six months before had participated in the spoliation of Czechoslovakia. The Soviet Union then pointed out that British failure to guarantee the Baltic States was tantamount to permission to Hitler to attack Russia through these buffer States.

Churchill the realist, strongly criticizing Chamberlain's "catastrophic handling of the negotiations with Russia, urged full acceptance of Russia's logical proposals. On June 28, 1939, in a plea which, if heeded, might have averted the war or greatly changed its course to Hitler's disadvantage, Churchill said:

"We all hope that a full and solid alliance will be made with Russia without further delay. It would seem that the Russian claim that we should all stand together in resisting an act of aggression upon the Baltic States was just and reasonable, and I trust we shall meet it in the fullest manner."

be held responsible and will face the most severe measures."

In the fierce fighting in the south, a position designated as "Height N," on the approaches to Crimea, was said to have changed hands eight times, with the Germans losing 1,000 men. The Axis force drove toward Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, the Moscow radio reported, but in most places they were checked and in a few they were forced to dig in to resist Red Army counter-attacks. Villages changed hands several times.

The Soviet forces were making good use of guerrillas, and were using workers on double duty, having them take up guns and become guerrillas whenever the Germans drove them from their plants. Such was the case at Kalinin, according to the Moscow radio. Workers there joined the guerrillas when the Germans came and one group of them, under "Alexis T.," was credited with blowing up two bridges, destroying a German ammunition dump and a truck depot and killing 50 Germans.

VOROSHILOV, BUDENNY TRAIN HUGE NEW ARMIES

KUIBYSHEV, U.S.S.R., Oct. 24 (UP).—The Soviet Union is prepared to fight for years, and has detached two Field Marshals from the front to train vast new armies of reserves who will some day sweep the Germans out of the country, S. A. Losovsky, the official government spokesman, said today.

In his first press conference in this secondary Soviet capital, 550 miles east of Moscow on the Volga, Losovsky pointed out that the drive on Moscow had bogged down, that parts of the government moved to Kuibyshev to better organize long-range Soviet defense, and that Moscow remained the capital of the Soviet Union, with Premier Joseph Stalin in charge there.

The recent shifts in the military command, he said, were designed to permit Marshal Klement Voroshilov, Commander of the Northern Front, and Marshal Semyon Budenny, Commander of the Southern Front, to train the new reserve armies back in the interior. Marshal Semyon Timoshenko of the Central Front took Budenny's command in the south. Voroshilov's successor was not designated. Gen. Grigori K. Zhukov, chief of the general staff, took command of the Central Front.

"WILL DRIVE NAZIS OUT"

Losovsky said that "there is much pessimism in the Anglo-American press but the Germans will soon be convinced that our reserves are far from exhaustion. We can resist several years longer but it remains to be seen how much longer the Germans can stand war. . . . We are determined to rid the country of the last German no matter how many cities they take. We are all to one man convinced that if this isn't the last German offensive it is probably one of the last, and we do not doubt for a moment that final victory will be ours."

It is now possible to reveal that the diplomatic and press corps left Moscow Oct. 16 when the Germans broke through the city's outer defenses in the direction of Moshaisk, 60 miles to the west. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov suggested the move but it was not compulsory. He informed the embassies through the Iranian Ambassador, Mohammed Saad, dean of the corps, that his Ministry was transferring to Kuibyshev but that the Red Army was fighting to the last ditch for Moscow.

United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt, British Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps and their staffs and others left by special train at 1 P. M. Oct. 16. When they last drove to the Kremlin to see Molotov, men and women, their heads swathed in shawls against the cold, were marching through the streets en route to dig fortifications. Otherwise the city was normal.

Molotov and other commissars arrived here yesterday and the Foreign Minister immediately got down to business, receiving Saad, Steinhardt, Cripps and others. Losovsky said that Molotov's presence here was only temporary, and that since Premier Stalin and the Supreme Military Council remained at Moscow, that was the capital although the Government departments would be separated for the present.

The best available buildings in Kuibyshev were placed at the disposal of American, British and other missions.

GERMAN ATTACKS FAILURES

Losovsky said the Germans had failed in both their major objectives, to encircle and subdue Moscow and to crush the Red Army. He said the new armies now being trained by Budenny and Voroshilov would soon deal the Germans a "crushing blow."

Although it had been assumed that Timoshenko was sent to the Southern Front because of the increased German pressure there, Losovsky said that transfer was made "for internal military reasons."

Dispatches here indicated that the German drive on Moscow continued in full fury, although making no progress. Losovsky said hundreds of thousands of Germans had been killed or wounded in the battle for Moscow (the Moscow radio put the figure at 300,000).

Will Use Many Ports to Ship Aid to USSR

Maritime Commission Denies Boston to Be Sole Base

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (UP).—The U. S. Maritime Commission said today it was in error when it announced that after Oct. 28 all Soviet aid cargoes from the United States would be moved through the port of Boston.

A Commission statement said: "The Maritime Commission announced today that information emanating from the Commission Wednesday, Oct. 22, that 'all aid-to-Russia cargoes will be moved through the port of Boston after Oct. 28' was inaccurate and has been widely misinterpreted."

"No information was given out by the Commission concerning any specific Russian port to be used or any routing of vessels."

"The Commission has recently taken steps to distribute the exportation of defense material through several ports to avoid possible congestion arising from the use of only a limited number of ports and to furnish cargoes for as many ports as practical so that the use of port facilities and the work ensuing therefrom will be more widely distributed."

"Arrangements have recently been made whereby export defense material which customarily moves through Atlantic coast ports will be distributed so that the facilities of ports south and north of New York will be utilized to a greater extent."

"Defense cargoes will continue to be divided as far as practicable among ports of exportation."

The original Commission announcement made public late Wednesday said:

"All aid-to-Russia cargoes will be moved through the port of Boston after Oct. 28, it was announced by the Maritime Commission today."

"The Army base pier in Boston will be the assembly point for materials in this plan by the Commission to make greater use of the facilities of various ports and to prevent possible congestion."

"The action was taken because of the constantly increasing volume of shipments of materials essential to Russia's defense effort."

British, Nazi Planes Trade Coastal Blows

First American Sailor Killed in Action with British Navy

LONDON, Oct. 24 (UP).—British and German bombers traded blows tonight in raids on occupied Europe and Britain following last night's Royal Air Force assault on northwestern Germany.

While British bombers were lashing the Calais area of northwestern France, German raiders swept over northwest England, East Anglia and South Wales. High-explosive bombs whistled down in a southwest England town, trapping occupants of houses.

The Air Ministry reported that British fighters shot down seven German planes with the loss of only one of their own during today's sweeps.

Smaller attacks were made on docks at the occupied French ports of Brest, Cherbourg and Le Havre.

FIRST U. S. SAILOR DIES IN BRITISH SINKING

LONDON, Oct. 24 (UP).—The Admiralty announced tonight that an American volunteer in the Royal Navy, Lieut. John S. Parker of Boston, was killed when the destroyer Broadwater, transferred by the United States to Britain, was sunk while on convoy duty in the north Atlantic.

On the War Fronts

(AS OF OCTOBER 23)

BY A VETERAN COMMANDER

The operations on the Moscow front have definitely (at least for the time being) assumed a positional character. This is attested to by the Germans themselves who for almost a week have been telling us that they have reached a point "35-37-30-38 miles" (in that very order) from Moscow.

When great masses of armored and motorized troops cannot do better than that, it means that they have been checked. The battle rages in the streets of Kalinin, where it has been centered for more than ten days. At Moshaisk there are no new developments. On the southern end of the Moscow "arc," at and around Maloyaroslavets, there are signs of the Germans trying to slide eastward, in the direction of Serpukhov, probably with the object of cutting the Moscow-Tula railroad.

All in all, the Moscow defense belt is steadfastly performing its double purpose to defend the capital and to absorb, like a sponge, a maximum of German units and materiel. We repeat that it is now the "poultice" of the front.

In the north large scale battles have been renewed along the Volkov River in the Novgorod sector where the Germans have been stuck for many weeks. Here Soviet troops are disposed in a salient between the Volkov and the Msta.

In the south the Germans have renewed their attacks on Perekop, gateway to the Crimea, but, according to their own admission, have failed to advance. On the contrary, a Soviet counter-attack here seems to have had some success. There is no news of further German progress in the Donets Basin.

All said and done, the news of the day is generally on the favorable side.

The same can be said of the change in the commanding personnel of the Red Army.

The two brilliant "youngsters"—Timoshenko and Zhukov—have been placed in the forefront, having received the command of the hottest fronts, at Moscow and in the Donbas. The two veterans—Voroshilov and Budenny—with their immense prestige and military and moral weight, have been sent to levy, train and organize the huge new armies which will make this war a very long one for Mr. Hitler.

We are (insincerely) sorry for those editors, commentators and experts who have been doing a lot of limb-climbing in the last forty-eight hours on the score of these changes in command. Obviously these gentlemen think that while it is natural and normal to shift troops during operations from place to place, commanders must remain frozen to their posts, like statues in a park. But we say: woe to the army which does not maneuver its commanding personnel (just as it would maneuver its troops), taking into consideration the special qualifications of generals and placing them at the spot where they fit the ever-changing conditions most.

Once more, there is nothing to report from the other war fronts.

Rumania in Ferment Over Nazi Looting, Huge Losses

Food, Clothing Scarce as Winter Nears; People Weary of War

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 24 (UP).—Diplomatic circles reported today that Rumanian troop trains continue to carry reinforcements to the Eastern Front and that the same trains return to Rumania with thousands of wounded soldiers. They said that the Rumanian civilian population appears increasingly uneasy regarding the future, particularly the approach of winter because of a growing scarcity of food and clothing, both reported reserved for German and Rumanian troops.

Those circles understood that Gen. Ion Antonescu, Chief of the Rumanian State, is devoting special attention to domestic affairs and that daily he visits public markets and shops insisting that merchants respect the "one price" order.

Many grocers in Rumania, it was said, no longer display foodstuffs on their shelves or in windows because they are completely sold out or have hidden their stocks.

Word received here said that the government had appealed to hunters to donate rabbit and other skins in order to keep the troops warm at the front during the winter and that all the country's wool stocks had been taken over by the authorities.

Diplomatic circles understood that Germany now is demanding that the mark used in her barter trade with Rumania be raised in value. It was understood that proposals were not well received in Bucharest financial circles and it was said that Germany was consuming most of Rumania's oil and large quantities of her cereals, foodstuffs and other raw materials.

The newspaper said that Dutch citizens may be "too optimistic" but if said "we cannot help but seeing the diminishing strength of the occupier and the holdups and restrictions of his production because of the scarcity of raw materials. Everyone can see the slackening off of shipbuilding because the ships are either empty or occupied by vessels on which work has been suspended."

The newspaper said that when the Germans ordered all domestic metal to be surrendered it was the signal for mass "funerals" in the backyards of all Holland in which tons of metal are concealed.

A Reprint From a Letter In the New York Times

At the point to which we have come, these additional guarantees do not add much to our danger. Actually they do not add one tithe to our danger compared to what will be gained in collective security by an alliance between England, France and Russia."

SOVIET INTERESTS

"We now come to the outbreak of the war, the invasion of Poland by Germany and Russia's seizure of the eastern part of Poland. Churchill, now a member of the government, as First Lord of the Admiralty, broadcast an address on Oct. 1, 1939, in which he said:

"What is the second event of this first month? It is, of course, the assertion of the power of Russia. Russia has pursued a cold policy of self-interest. We could have wished that the Russian armies should be standing on their present line as the friends and allies of Poland instead of as invaders. But that the Russian armies should stand on this line was clearly necessary for the safety of Russia against the Nazi menace."

Churchill the realist sees no division of spoils here, no partitioning of an unfortunate country by two aggressor "allies." Churchill the realist sees the Russian move as a threat to Germany and to continued German aggression. He wishes that the Russian armies could have been standing on their line "as the friends and allies of Poland instead of as invaders."

Exactly what Russia had proposed and wasn't that exactly what Colonel Beck, with the acquiescence of Chamberlain, had prevented?

Today many additional facts are known which prove that, in spite of the commercial treaty concluded with the Nazi government, Russia delivered ever decreasing quantities of fuel and other strategic material. Russia's note to Bulgaria protesting that country's acceptance of Nazi infiltration, and her pact with Yugoslavia on the eve of the Nazi invasion of that country, provide additional evidence disproving the "ally" theory.

Amter on O'Dwyer 'Shouting, Not Whispering,' His Fascist Backing

Cacchione Says Tammany Candidate
Evades Issue; Lists 3 Questions

Tammany mayoralty nominee William F. O'Dwyer cannot deny that "he has the support of all the un-American organizations in our city," Israel Amter, Manhattan Communist candidate for City Council, declared last night in a radio speech over station WAAT. Amter listed the "un-American organizations" backing the Democratic candidate as the Nazi Bund, the America First Committee, the Christian Front and various other supporters of the pro-appeasement Senators Nye and Wheeler and ex-Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

The Manhattan Communist candidate scoffed at O'Dwyer's complaints that he is a victim of a "whispering campaign."

Far from a "whispering," the Communist brought the facts about O'Dwyer to public attention through millions of leaflets and many radio broadcasts, Amter said.

UN-AMERICAN SUPPORT
"Through two and a half million leaflets and pamphlets, more than 40 broadcasts and a large number of election rallies we Communists are declaring to the whole world that O'Dwyer is the candidate of Tammany Hall and is receiving the open, active support of the reactionary Hearst press, the Nazi Bund, the America First Committee, the Christian Front and every reactionary and pro-fascist force in the city," Amter said.

"John R. Davies, the candidate defeated in the Republican primary and an open appeaser, declared that he will do everything in his power to switch his support to O'Dwyer. This is the record, which we Communists proclaim to the whole electorate."

"Labor recognizes this fact and categorically rejects the nomination of O'Dwyer. Labor in New York City is progressive and wants to see its rights protected."

Amter ridiculed O'Dwyer's claims to cleaning up Brooklyn waterfront racketeering, charging that the Brooklyn District Attorney had not reached "the higher-ups."

"Why not?" demanded Amter.

BLASTS O'DWYER 'HOKUM'
O'Dwyer's speech declaring his independence of Tammany was blasted as "hokum" by the Communist nominee.

O'Dwyer could not have become the candidate for Mayor if Boss Sullivan (leader Christopher Sullivan of Tammany Hall) has not given his consent," he said.

Conceding that O'Dwyer is not an anti-Semite himself, Amter charged he was the "prisoner" of the anti-Semites.

"I ask O'Dwyer where he stands on Lindbergh, Nye and Wheeler," he challenged. "I ask where he stands on the Christian Front, and one of its leaders, Joseph McWilliams, who states openly at meetings, 'Don't pay attention to what O'Dwyer says. We understand each other.'"

"To be sure, O'Dwyer issues statements to the Jewish people declaring himself against anti-Semitism. But O'Dwyer is the victim and prisoner of the anti-Semites themselves. He is their candidate. A candidate must be judged by the people who support him, and the program they represent."

Assailing Attorney General John J. Bennett, an O'Dwyer backer, Amter lashed into the latter's statement that the Communists "owe allegiance to Stalin" because they support the Roosevelt policy of all-out aid to the Soviet Union.

"Does Winston Churchill owe allegiance to Stalin?" Amter asked. "Does President Roosevelt owe allegiance to Stalin?"

Peter V. Cacchione, Brooklyn Communist candidate for Councilman, yesterday charged that O'Dwyer has been evading important local as well as national issues, and demanded that he disclose his position on three key questions.

"Where does O'Dwyer stand on proportional representation, the democratic way of electing a municipal legislature," Cacchione asked. "It is well known that the Kelly-Sullivan-Flynn machine has fought P.R. tooth and nail."

"Where does he stand on the city radio station? Tammany Councilmen, who stopped broadcasts of Council meetings over WNYC despite wide public interest, are advocating that the station be shut down."

"Where does he stand on badly-needed county reform, which Tammany has so long and so bitterly opposed because of the job 'plums' it has been able to extract from the outmoded system?"

Bioff Claims
Sums Were for Wage Boosts

Defense Begins Case Against Charge of Film Extortions

(By United Press)
Defense attorneys in the extortion trial of William Bioff and George E. Browne said yesterday they would prove that the labor leaders obtained $5,000,000 from the movie industry—not as the government charges in the form of extortion payments but as wage increases for union members.

In a session cut short by the fact that Judge John C. Knox was concerned with other matters, the defense laid the groundwork for an attempt to show that members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) received millions in wage increases from their movie employers after Browne became international president in 1934.

The government, whose case was rested Wednesday, charges that Browne and Bioff, his West Coast colleague, extorted $550,000 from Loew's, Inc.; Paramount, Warner Brothers and 20th Century Fox Films from 1936 to 1938. Nicholas M. Schenck, head of Loew's, and executives of the other companies testified concerning payments totaling more than $800,000.

Because of the brief session Bioff did not face the stand as expected, and Patrick J. Casey, theatrical figure and labor expert, was the major witness.

Casey, chairman of the producers' committee which engineered a basic agreement with AFL labor unions in 1936, testified concerning meetings in New York on April 18, 1936, and 21 of that year.

Through his testimony, the defense brought out an error in the testimony of Schenck, who had said he attended a meeting on April 18 and that on that occasion, in an anteroom, Bioff and Browne demanded $2,000,000 from the industry, later scaling the sum down to $1,000,000.

Schenck had admitted in his testimony that he was not certain about the April 18 date and when minutes of the meeting showed he was not present, the government conceded he had erred.

Casey described "chaotic" labor conditions in the movie industry in 1933, when William Elliott was head of the IATSE, and testified about an AFL jurisdictional strike in that year which virtually wrecked the union, cutting its membership from about 6,000 to about 150.

hundreds of delegates from shops and locals of New York on how help build the circulation of labor's newspapers among the workers.

The Conference will bring together official shop representatives and delegates from groups of workers. Key-workers as well as non-Communist Party members will also be invited to map out a sound organizational plan for Daily and Sunday distribution in the factories, offices and trade union locals.

Delegates have been instructed to take notice of the change in date of the Conference. Previously planned for Oct. 25, it is now scheduled for Nov. 15.

Today New York labor will participate in an anti-Hitler rally sponsored by A. F. of L. and CIO unions at Madison Square Park.

explained that they had scoured the cafeterias, restaurants, social clubs, pool rooms, and movie lobbies, where people congregated to keep out of the wet. Two Browder Brigades alone sold 440 copies. Everywhere they went, people were anxious to buy the paper.

Three months ago, the 4th and 6th were selling a mere few dozen Daily and Sunday Workers, now they are dispensing over 550 papers daily and 1,500 Sunday Workers, already fulfilling their Jan. 1 quota. Instead of relaxing on their record, the men and women who sell the papers are working toward higher goals.

Representatives of the 4th and 6th will be present at the Daily and Sunday Worker Shop and Industrial Conference scheduled for Nov. 5 at Irving Plaza to inform Rainy weather is no ally in the sale of newspapers, the dealers say. Readers prefer to stay at home and listen to the radio rather than brave the angry elements.

That is what the Browder Brigades of the 4th and 6th A. D. in Manhattan thought last Saturday night when they went out on the wet, deserted streets of the East Side to sell the Sunday Worker.

The week before they had sold 850 copies, thereby setting a new record. Anxious to keep it up, they were afraid the rain would spoil their chances. Before the evening was over, they returned to their section headquarters with outstanding news. They had sold 1,000 copies—the largest Saturday night sale, thus far.

When asked how it was done, they

Citizens' Union Pays Tribute to Crosbie

Also Term Cacchione, Begun 'Capable, Well-Informed'

Paul Crosbie, Communist candidate for City Council from Queens is "personally well qualified" for "useful" service, the Citizens Union declared yesterday in its summary of candidates for that borough.

While shying from actual endorsement of Crosbie, Queens Communist leader, American Legionnaire and father of five grown children, the Union paid tribute to Crosbie's qualities, saying:

"The Communist Party puts its best foot forward when it nominates Mr. Crosbie. He is a fine gentleman and personally well qualified by education and ability for useful service."

"PERSONALLY CAPABLE"
Of Peter V. Cacchione, Brooklyn Communist candidate for City Council, the Union said guardedly.

"He is personally capable and well-informed."

Concerning Isidore Begun, Bronx Communist nominee, the Union was equally cautious, terming him "a capable and intelligent spokesman for his party's point of view."

About Israel Amter, Manhattan Communist candidate, the Citizens Union was positively cryptic, confining itself to the terse description: "One of the national leaders of the Communist Party."

The Union endorsed principally middle class citizens with a good government background like Stanley M. Isaacs in Manhattan and Mrs. Genevieve Barle in Brooklyn.

There was general admission by the Union of the ability of Labor candidates although few were endorsed. Describing Eugene P. Connolly, American Labor Party candidate in Manhattan, the Union said:

"An able, intelligent and energetic labor leader, who has long been active in public affairs and has often been very helpful in such civic movements as that for county reform."

Of Daniel Allen, Labor Party candidate in Brooklyn, the Union wrote:

"An able and intelligent labor leader with a valuable background of legislative work at City Hall."

Furniture Local Votes Day's Pay to Nazi Foes

CIO Union Here Also to Give Portion of Wages to Men in U. S. Army

Donation of a day's pay for medical aid to countries fighting fascism and for support to men in training in the United States Army was voted Thursday night by shop delegates representing the 9,000 members of the United Furniture Workers Union in New York City.

The plan was approved with only two dissenting votes by 359 delegates from five locals of the union, who met at the Capitol Hotel, 51st St. and Eighth Ave. It was decided that the donation of each union member will be payment for work equivalent to one day's overtime, with time and a half wages to be arranged for with cooperating employers. Funds will be divided between medical supplies for Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China, and Christmas checks for union members in the United States Army, with 10 per cent set aside for a welfare fund in each local and for contribution to the USO. Methods of collecting the funds are left to the discretion of each local.

Telegrams of greetings to the countries fighting fascism, and a telegram to the President of the United States, declaring support for his foreign policy were voted unanimously by the delegates.

Comptroller Joseph D. McGoldrick addressed the meeting briefly, calling upon delegates to get workers in their shops, their families and friends to the polls on Nov. 4, to vote for the Fusion ticket.

"The people want the kind of government LaGuardia has given them in this city," said the Comptroller, "but it's not enough for them to want it! They've got to come out to the polls and get it!"

Max Perlow, manager of Local 76-B and chairman of the Inter-Local Committee in charge of the fund drive, told the delegates:

"Fascism is our deadly enemy. And the American labor movement is now wide awake to the closeness of the fascist trap. Never has it faced such danger. From coast to coast, the labor movement is now supporting the administration's policy of all aid to those fighting fascism and clamoring for repeal of the neutrality Act."

"Within our country," he continued, "are betrayers of the same type who betrayed France. Yes, we have our Lindberghs, Wheelers, Nyes and all those of the America First Committee who are openly sabotaging national defense and preaching anti-Semitism. These people are not anti-war—they are anti-people."

In addition to Max Perlow, the chairman, the Inter-Local Committee in charge of the anti-Hitler fund drive includes Oliver Leeds, recording secretary; Morris Peger, financial secretary; Alex Serota, treasurer, and Leroy Clark, Richard Mazza and Abraham Sachs, trustees.

DETROIT, Oct. 24.—A large group of General Motors Ternstedt workers, members of the United Automobile Workers of America, CIO, were passing around a letter of greetings and solidarity received this week from A. A. Gromyko, Soviet Charge d'Affaires. The letter was in response to similar greetings sent to the Soviet, British and Chinese trade unions two weeks ago and signed by 140 Ternstedt workers. The letter was circulated by William Rust, tool and die maker to whom the Soviet official's reply was addressed.

Gromyko acknowledged receipt of the Ternstedt worker's letter and declared:

"Please accept my heartfelt thanks on behalf of the members of the Soviet trade unions to you and all the workers who signed that message of solidarity. The Soviet people, who at this moment are engaged in a deadly struggle against the bloody Nazi invader, have not for a moment lost their firm belief that with the aid of the freedom loving peoples the world over, Hitlerism will be defeated."

"Hitler will never dominate the world."

"Victory will be ours."

"I have transmitted your message to Moscow."

Cleveland CIO Resolution Urges:

Nat'l Unity Against Hitler;
Labor Spurs Production DriveOpen West Front,
End Neutrality
Council Says

(Special to the Daily Worker)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—The Cleveland CIO Industrial Union Council voted for immediate repeal of the Neutrality Act and declared itself fully behind the growing demand in Britain for a west-front.

The Council further called for conveying of U. S. aid to ports of Britain, Soviet Union and China with orders to American war vessels to shoot first to make sure the supplies reach their destination.

"It is now an established fact," says the Council resolution, "that Germany has pushed us into war regardless of the wishful thinking of some people" citing the torpedoing of American vessels in neutral zones.

URGE WAR ENTRY
An amendment to the resolution, introduced by John A. Delehanty, of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, called for immediate declaration of war by the United States against Nazi Germany.

To permit full discussion by all Council delegates, amendment was tabled until the next CIO Council meeting, when its consideration will be resumed by what is expected to be a record meeting.

Delehanty, its introducer, is the second CIO leader here who has asked for a declaration of war within the week. The first was Admiral Kilpatrick, Negro leader, and president of Local 35, Association of Die-Casting Workers, who asked for a declaration of war when he spoke in Youngstown at the CIO state convention.

The CIO Council also adopted a "Statement of Policy," in which it pledged "to increase production in our defense plants, and to insist upon the most efficient operation of our plants. This can be achieved by greater participation of labor in the management of these plants through joint training committees, more consultation by management with labor in these plants through the Union Shop Committees."

"We will diligently strive to press management into wholehearted cooperation with the defense program in such instances where management is not fully co-operating."

The Statement of Policy also declares:

"We recommend a policy of no strikes in defense plants, except as a last resort to protect the welfare of our members, and will use Government agencies to protect the rights of our members and their general welfare so long as the Government agencies are able and willing to enforce these rights."

"To achieve national unity for the defeat of Hitler, we pledge to do our utmost. We, however, must demand the fullest cooperation of all those who are opposed to Hitler in joining with us in the achievement of this objective, both on the side of government and management. We welcome the cooperation of all sections of organized labor to unite in accomplishing our objectives despite differences of opinion over what, today, becomes of minor importance."

The United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO, yesterday hailed President Roosevelt's proclamation of a six-day period beginning Armistice Week to awaken the American people to their "duties and responsibilities in defense of this country."

The big white collar and professional union pledged fullest cooperation to all activities relating to civilian defense. A letter sent to President Roosevelt by Joseph H. Levy, chairman of the UOPWA National Defense Committee, informed the chief executive that the union's locals throughout the country are already actively engaged in raising money for war relief purposes.

The union at the same time wrote to Mayor LaGuardia requesting specific suggestions for bringing about the fullest participation of its membership and white collar workers generally in the national defense effort.

Behind Aid; Push Pittsburgh Parley

(Special to the Daily Worker)
DETROIT, Oct. 24.—Leaders of ten American Slav civic, fraternal and cultural organizations voted here yesterday to support President Roosevelt's foreign policy of all-out aid to nations resisting Nazi aggression at a special conference at Dom Polski, and urged other Slav groups to follow suit.

"We pledge tireless efforts for the unity of fifteen million Slav Americans and their utmost participation in the all-out American effort to crush Hitlerism," declared the telegram sent to President Roosevelt.

The Conference set up a Michigan State Committee of the American Slav Congress slated to convene in Pittsburgh on Nov. 21, 22 and 23. The Congress will consider the major problem of enlisting all the American Slav organizations in the United States behind the national defense program.

Messages of support were sent to Congressmen Dingell and Leahinski,

Thousands of dollars are flowing into the offices of the Russian War Relief offices daily in large and small contributions from every part of America, it was reported yesterday.

Letters arriving at 835 Fifth Ave., emphasize the need of destroying Hitler by sending all-out aid to the brave defenders of the Soviet Union.

The fate of the Soviet Union is more important to me than any other thing right now, wrote Mrs. Sophia Symura of Newburyport, Mass., when she sent $40 she had saved from her family budget to Russian War Relief headquarters.

"I am more than willing to contribute this to help save the strength and blood of the Red Army and the civilians who are carrying the brunt of the burden of destroying fascism," declared the New England farmwife.

"I am willing to go without a washing machine even though the back-breaking task has robbed me of my health."

"I am not a nurse but I wish I could take care of the sick. I want to take care of the Russian soldiers who are a wonderful people. I would be willing to sail on a ship taking aid to Russia if it could be done."

Other letters tell of the same personal sacrifice that anti-fascists are willing to undergo in order to see the barbarian invader defeated once and for all.

These sentiments will be translated into concrete terms at the huge testimonial rally at Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, when the Russian War Relief Benefit will launch a nation-wide campaign for civilian aid and medical supplies for the Soviet people.

It is expected that hundreds of thousands of dollars will be collected and pledged at the rally to help ship needed supplies and medicines to the U.S.S.R.

Produce More, Probe
America First—Ickes

By Carl Harris
(Special to the Daily Worker)
CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—With trade unions here taking the lead in the drive to increase defense production and small business men meeting here in a Defense Production Clinic, special significance was attached here today to the plea of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes for "output without stint."

"We must produce more, much more quickly, if the forces of England, China and Russia are to have the equipment necessary to hold back and ultimately smash the Axis aggressors," Ickes declared here.

He lashed "the industrialists and businessmen who fought for unconscionable profits while the wave of Hitlerism threatened to wipe them out along with the rest of us."

The speech of the Secretary of the Interior had a direct bearing on the current efforts of the CIO Farm Equipment Workers Union to impel the International Harvester corporation to begin producing for defense in the huge Chicago plants.

URGES PROBE OF APPEASERS

Hammering at the pro-Nazi appeasers, Ickes called for a congressional investigation of the America First Committee. He said: "I believe that there was a time when this organization had in its ranks some sincere, but misguided Americans who thought that a policy of isolation was the best course for America to pursue. Unfortunately, its activities were such that it soon attracted all of the Nazi and fascist-minded people in this country, Nazis, Coughlinites, and anti-Semites have taken over the organization, lock, stock, and barrel."

Today, America First is a tight little Nazi organization that follows the party line as laid down in Berlin. Some people of good intentions but of little understanding have been kept out in front as window-dressing. They are merely decoys.

"Some of our isolationists, and some of those who are opposed to giving aid to Russia, believe that Senate investigations contribute to the enlightenment of the country, even if they embarrass our defense activities. So I suggest a resolution in the Senate or the House of Representatives calling for an investigation of the America First Committee. I don't care whom they put on the investigating committee. If they wish, they can pack it, or set it up without legal sanction, as was done with the one to investigate the motion picture industry."

"But by all means let's have an investigation. Perhaps, we might be able to find out how the America First Committee, and some of its subsidiaries, get hold of so many franked envelopes in which to mail their propaganda. We might find out if Ham Fish collected all of these mail bags that he had around for so many days merely to play post office. We might find out whether Senator 'Curly' Brooks calls Robert R. McCormick for orders twice a day, or only once. There are a lot of things that we might find out."

"The American people are entitled to know who this America First Committee is and what are its ramifications. Particularly, they should be advised who contributes to it, in what amounts, and how the funds are expended."

Demanding that the Neutrality

Act be repealed, Secretary Ickes declared that the act "can serve no purpose other than to handicap our efforts to defeat Hitler."

"The repeal of the Neutrality Act, the arming of our merchant ships, and their full use, under the protection of our Navy, to carry supplies to any port over any ocean to any foe of Hitler's will be a definite assurance that America intends never again to be 'too late' with 'too little' in defense of freedom."

Children in Defense
Theme at IWO Parley

The defense of democracy will be one of the principal topics discussed at the panel on "Education for Defense of Democracy and Labor" during the Conference on Labor's Children in a World at War held today and tomorrow at the Hotel Piccadilly under the sponsorship of the 27,000 members of the Junior Section of the International Workers Order.

Arthur Upham Pope, chairman of the Committee for National Morale, will be the main speaker at the general session on Sunday morning.

The role of children of American labor in the national defense program, their welfare needs and the various aspects of child education will be discussed at this afternoon's panel by prominent cultural and labor leaders.

Hundreds of delegates and fraternal participants from eastern and midwestern states will hear Prof. K. Speer of New York University.

Children Sending Flood
Of Gifts to Red Army Men

American children hate Hitler as much as their parents and want to see him destroyed, a spokesman at World Tourists reported yesterday, as a result of the hundreds of children's gift packages that are arriving at the office for reshipment to the U.S.S.R.

"In many cities, groups of children have constituted themselves providers of woolen socks, gloves, sweaters, underwear, razors, blades, chocolates, cocoa, coffee, cigarettes, food preserves and concentrates," he declared.

A youngster writing from Cleveland states: "This is my first present to the best anti-Hitler fighters in the world. I saved all my spending money to buy this and I am not going to wish I could do more—I am going to do more. With some of my clubmates, we have agreed to ask everyone we see to help us buy chocolates. We want to give one million pounds to one million anti-Hitler fighters."

"We're in this until Hitler is put in the mad-house where he belongs," writes another boy in New Jersey, whose gift package contained 100 packets of razor blades.

A Minnesota youngster sends a present to "some Russian boy" with the fervent wish of "hope your dad gets Hitler."

To accommodate demands, arrangements have been made whereby one pound of chocolate and a letter from the donor can be sent to a Red Army soldier for 40 cents which covers the cost of chocolate and shipping, the spokesman said.

U.S. Discrimination Probe Assails Blow to Defense

Proposes Action to Aid Housing, Rent, Education, Health Problems

By Eva Lapin

(Daily Worker Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Discrimination against minority groups in defense industry has been attacked as leading to "unnecessary" migration and as seriously hindering the production of defense materials by the Tolcan Committee investigating national defense migration.

The committee also charged that lack of adequate housing, educational and recreational facilities, skyrocketing of rents, and geographic concentration of defense contracts were "greatly interfering with the national-defense program."

In a report submitted to Congress this week, based upon hearings held in San Diego, Hartford, Trenton and Baltimore, the committee offered the following recommendations for alleviating the hardships met by workers migrating to defense areas:

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

First, strict enforcement of the President's executive order barring discrimination in defense industry and government agencies.

Second, rapid expansion of additional housing and recreational facilities and reorganization of defense housing agencies to insure greater speed in providing homes for defense workers.

Third, decentralization of defense contracts and plants to minimize the migration of workers away from the Midwest, and enforcement of compulsory subcontracting to small firms.

Fourth, improvement of the United States Employment Service by establishing an employment service wholly financed by Federal funds and operated by trained Federal personnel.

Fifth, compilation of adequate and continuous data on farm-labor supply so that an adequate supply of labor will be available on farms and workers will not migrate on the basis of irresponsible advertising of alleged shortages.

Sixth, revision of the Social Security Act to grant funds to states for general assistance to defense workers after the emergency is over without any residence requirements as are now in existence.

The Tolcan Committee has been collecting data for months on the effect of migration of workers to certain areas on the defense program and on their morale and well-being.

MORALE HURT

Now the committee has made it plain that the "rising rents, unsanitary, overcrowded living conditions and long-distance commuting" are having a "destructive" effect on the morale, health and efficiency of the workers on whom defense production depends.

The committee has particularly attacked the discrimination in defense employment and training against Negroes and American citizens of Italian and German extraction as "destructive of the morale of many millions of American citizens."

In city after city, the Congressmen were told of how skillful workers residing in the locality were refused employment while manufacturers advertised for labor from outside areas.

American citizens of Italian and German parentage were discriminated against in Connecticut, Mexican workers were discriminated against in San Diego, California, and Negroes were barred from employment in Baltimore, Maryland, and non-citizens were prevented from getting jobs in New Jersey, although many of them are skilled machinists.

Government agencies and training courses have also discriminated against foreign born and Negro workers. Not a single Negro was receiving training in defense courses in Connecticut or New Jersey.

The Tolcan Committee stated in its report that it agreed with witnesses that such discrimination was undermining the national unity of the American people and that the President's order should be strictly enforced.

POOR FARMERS AIDED LITTLE

Among the most interesting aspects of the committee's findings was the fact that poor farmers have received little benefits from the increased activity of the defense program.

Farm Security Administration officials testified that in those areas where FSA assistance was most needed there has been the least defense activity.

In the South, where 44 per cent of FSA aid is distributed, only 10 per cent of defense contracts has been allocated, so that the need for farm aid is as large as ever.

And even where there has been an influx of defense industry, most of the people aided by the FSA are older workers, untrained and unable to secure employment.

NO LABOR SHORTAGE

Testimony before the committee also blasted the cries of large agricultural producers that there is a shortage of farm labor.

The committee made it clear that detailed surveys of many states revealed that there is no tight farm labor market which could not be relieved by raising the low farm wages.

In discussing the acute housing shortage in defense areas, the Tolcan Committee called for the "immediate appropriation of additional Federal funds and the immediate construction of additional housing for defense workers."

In no uncertain terms, the report stated that the major portion of defense housing must be done with public funds because private builders are simply not doing the job.

Statistics from all over the country showed that private builders were building expensive houses while ignoring the quotas of low-cost housing allocated to them by the defense housing authorities.

The committee placed a good deal of the blame for the deplorable housing situation on Defense Housing Coordinator Charles F. Palmer, because his policy of relying largely on private builders to meet the shortages "has been gravely in error."

In Pittsburgh, for example, 10,000 houses were allocated and only 2,645 are in construction. In Vallejo, California, scene of the Mare Island Navy Yard, 1,800 units were allocated and only 281 are being built. And that's the story throughout the country.

RISE IN RENTS

Of course, the failure to build adequate houses has led to a tremendous rise in rents with migrant defense workers the worst victims.

In San Diego, Calif., rents are up 14 per cent; in Pascagoula,

Two Days That Count

AS THEY approach the factory gates this morning, workers in all parts of the nation will be greeted by men and women petitioners. The machinist and tool-maker, the carpenter and the production worker will be asked by these petitioners to make a simple but deeply worthwhile contribution to the anti-fascist cause.

On street corners business men and other members of the community will have a similar request addressed to them. From door to door in residential sections the petitioners will likewise ask their neighbors to give help toward the same end.

Such will be the beginning of the two-day national petition-gathering throughout the nation for the release of Earl Browder from Atlanta Penitentiary. We are certain that it will receive a large and warm response. What can appeal more to the sense of justice of the average American than the freeing of the man who has stood out as the leader of the fight against fascism in America?

The Citizens' Committee to Free Earl Browder has said that his release depends upon the volume and scope of this petition drive. Knowing this to be the case—that each signature obtained aids that much more toward the opening of the prison gates for Browder—we urge that there be a large and loyal turn-out of petition gatherers today and tomorrow, so that the effort of these two days may be crowned with the full success which it deserves.

The International Labor Organization Conference

The conference of the International Labor Organization opening Monday at Columbia University, will be an important one although it is bound to have certain limitations.

These limitations arise from the fact that not all the important labor movements of the world will be represented. Furthermore, the labor delegates, along with representatives of the employers and governments, will have been appointed by the various governments participating in the conference. In addition, the procedure of the I.L.O. is not characteristic of trade union bodies. The actions of the conference, therefore, should not be judged as if they were those of a trade union conference.

Notwithstanding these limitations, the conference will doubtless prove an important additional medium through which international labor can send a clarion call to speed the struggle for the independence of all nations and the defeat of fascism.

In the first place, it can be expected that the conference will register its hatred of Hitlerism and its sympathy and solidarity with the workers of the conquered countries where the trade union movements have been ruthlessly smashed.

The conference can also be expected to extend greetings to the people and the powerful trade union movement of the Soviet Union. Even though the trade unions of the Soviet Union will not be represented, the conference can well acclaim the unity now being established between the labor movements of Britain and the USSR as a harbinger of that world labor unity needed to advance the struggle against Hitler.

The conference should also serve to further the solidarity of the trade union movements of the entire Western Hemisphere as well as the unity of labor within each country. In line with this some of those present will doubtless point out that the I.L.O. could be stronger and more effective if it also embraced the CIO and the Railroad Brotherhoods, representatives of which unfortunately have not been appointed by our government.

Likewise, there will probably be those who in emphasizing the urgency of unity for the entire hemisphere, will want to make clear that this cannot mean negating the independence of the trade union movement of the Latin American countries. The present efforts to revive the defunct Pan-American Federation of Labor, for example, could only serve to disrupt and weaken the independence and progressive nature of the various Latin American labor movements, most of which are now affiliated through their own choice with the Confederation of Latin American Workers.

The labor movement and the progressive forces of the United States will welcome the I.L.O. conference, trusting that its labors will strengthen the international struggle to rid the world of fascism.

Give the Nazi Puppets An Ultimatum

After slaughtering 100 innocent hostages in the last week, the Nazi cut-throats announce a reprieve until Monday night for 100 more, allegedly upon the plea of Petain.

Actually, this temporary respite in butchery was granted because the barbarism of the Nazis—savage though it is—does not daunt the French people. They struggle, whatever the odds. So quickly did Frenchmen reject the bribe to stoolpigeon on the assassins of the Nazis that it amounted to spitting in the face of Hitler. Moreover, world indignation, although still not adequate, is having some effect upon the cowardly Nazi murderers.

As far as Petain is concerned, this Quisling par excellence has developed bootlicking to its lowest level. "The French people can only be grateful" to the Nazis, he said. Here, indeed, is the last drop of undeserved shame to a great, liberty-loving nation. But it is the logical consequences of Petain's puppetry to Hitler, his collaboration with him, his service as a dupe for Hitler to inflict the "New Order" upon France.

Not even Hitler—though his crimes are many and unspeakable—will defy the world if it stands up to this orgy of butchery. And the duty to stand up rests heavily upon our government and our people. How can it be that Washington does not protest this savagery? How can it be that no voices are heard in Congress against it, that the national centers of the trade union movement do not speak out? Some voices have been heard, but otherwise the silence is still deafening. The people of France are fighting the battle of America.

The American government should give the Nazi representatives and their satellites an ultimatum also. It should inform these representatives of gangster regimes that they must get out of the country if Hitler murders a single hostage on Monday.

Timely Words by Secretary Knox

Secretary Knox's remarks yesterday serve to keep before the country the grave danger of Japan's aggressive policies to America's security.

He pointed out that the "situation" between this country and Japan was "extremely strained." Further, he said:

"We are satisfied in our own minds that the Japanese have no intention of giving up their plans for expansion. If they pursue that course a collision there is inevitable."

The American people will greet these words with the full realization that only through a bold front to Japan can it be prevented from carrying the ball for Hitler in the Far East.

Any aggressive move that Japan makes, particularly in the direction of Siberia or the Soviet Maritime Province, increases the danger for America. Since the new Tojo government took office, it is clear that the Japanese militarists harbor intentions of aiding Hitler by striking at the Soviet Eastern territory.

The national interest of the United States as well as the Soviet's own borders, are protected today by the Far Eastern Red Army. With the Soviet Union fighting heroically against the common enemy in Europe, America, in its own self-interest, should guarantee the maritime provinces of the Soviet Union against attack, and free the Eastern Red Army for action against Hitler.

Tokio has been quick to pick up the Maritime Commission's announcement that aid will not be sent through Vladivostok as appeasement. The arrogant Japanese generals, students of the Hitler technique, are undoubtedly telling the home folk that the United States "has backed down and is trying to appease us."

But Washington can disabuse their minds of any such misconceptions by applying stern pressure against Japan and by telling them any expansionist move toward Siberia will be met with America's armed might.

THE COMPANY O'DWYER KEEPS

A person is known by the company he keeps. Look at the behavior of three representatives of the same Tammany Hall which is now 100 per cent behind the candidacy of Mr. O'Dwyer.

A story in the Daily Worker yesterday showed that Congressman Martin Kennedy of the 18th Manhattan District, William Barry of the Second Queens District, and James O'Leary of the 11th Richmond District—all from O'Dwyer strongholds voted against the President's anti-fascist policy of arming merchant vessels.

O'Dwyer pretends to support that policy but he issues no repudiation of the unpatriotic action of these Tammanyite Representatives. On the contrary, in O'Dwyer's camp stands the appeaser Hearst press which launched his campaign, the Coughlinites and the pro-fascist America First Committee.

O'Dwyer promises "honest" government. But the Tammanyites in the City Council try to obstruct every progressive measure, while fighting bitterly against even the mildest attempt to clean out the spoils system, graft and political corruption from municipal government. Again O'Dwyer is silent. Truth is, O'Dwyer's theatrics that he will take no orders from Tammany are an insult to the intelligence of New York citizens.

President Roosevelt's endorsement of Mayor LaGuardia makes clear that he does not support O'Dwyer's policies. For all honest-minded people, it showed too that O'Dwyer's demagoguery about supporting the President's—and the people's—foreign policy is so much blather.

The President's endorsement was at the same time a crushing answer to Gov. Lehman and others who support O'Dwyer on the basis of party regularity. The defense of America, the destruction of Hitler, the issue of clean government free of Tammany control—all come before party labels. They come, too, before O'Dwyer whose election would be a field day for the pro-Hitlerites and the political corruptionists.

To a Man Greeks in U. S. Hate Hitler; Soviet Heroism Inspires Renewed Hope

By Art Shields

Seven hundred thousand Greek Americans, almost to the last individual, are united behind President Roosevelt's anti-Hitler policies.

Probably no group of American citizens are more loyal to the country in this crisis than the Greeks toiling in our restaurants, fur shops, steel mills and factories. They hate the pro-Nazi appeasers.

"I don't know of a single Greek who belongs to the America First Committee," said Dimitrios Christophorides, a well known editor, with whom I talked to in the office of his paper, the "Greek American Tribune" at 132 West 14th St.

"The Greeks know that America First is pro-Nazi," he pointed out. "They know it is a tool of the tyrant, who enslaved our beautiful native land."

"No Greek would dare to face his fellows if he joined America First, not even the few crippled Quislings we still have in our midst."

By "crippled Quislings," he explained, he meant a tiny handful of pro-Nazi traitors, who had to hush up their Hitlerite propaganda.

USSR INSPIRES GREEKS

Mr. Christophorides told of the rapid development of anti-Hitler activity among the Greeks of America since the entrance of the Soviet Union into the war gave them hopes of winning freedom for the Aegean lands from which they sprang.

Last August, he said, the largest Greek organizations in the United States came together in a Pan-Hellenic Congress for the purpose of fighting Hitler better.

More than 50,000 members of Greek societies were represented by the 464 delegates, who met in Cincinnati from Aug. 17 to 23 and voted:

"That we wholeheartedly support any and all policies of our Government aiming at the wiping out of Nazi-Fascism from the world."

The men and women, who made that pledge, said Mr. Christophorides, were speaking in the name of the 20,000 members of the strong Ahepa fraternity, leading Greek American organization, and of 30,000 other Greek people in the religious organizations and trade unions and fraternal societies, represented by the Pan-Hellenic Congress.

ANTI-HITLER MESSAGES

Delegates sent warm greetings to President Roosevelt, to Premier Tsouderos of the Greek Government in Exile, to Ambassador Oumansky of the Soviet Union and other envoys of the anti-Hitler Allies.

Never before had the Greek American people united so firmly in defense of the United States and the home land.

Local anti-fascist meetings followed. On Oct. 13 a thousand Greek Americans met in the Hotel Diplomat and sent President Roosevelt an enthusiastic message, urging intensified aid "in the fight to crush Hitlerism."

In messages to the Greek Government and Premier Churchill and Premier Stalin they pledged their determination to keep up the fight against their common enemies.

To Stalin the New York Greeks said that they were sure that the Soviet people and their allies would "save mankind from the menace of the barbarous hordes of Hitler" as the Greeks saved civilization at Marathon and Salamis.

Mr. Christophorides said that Hitler is having enormous difficulty ruling Greece through the Quisling government of Premier Cholakoglou, a Greek Nazi.

"The people have a limitless hatred of the Nazis," he said. "There is much sabotage and many armed clashes with enemy troops."

The editor referred to recent reports of the massacre of 15,000 Greeks in the Kavalla Drama district in eastern Macedonia, a tobacco producing region of workers and peasants, which the Axis propagandists have described as a "hotbed of radicalism."

GUERRILLAS ACTIVE

Such atrocities will not stop the people's movements, he said. Armed guerrillas operate extensively in the Greek mountains, reports the editor, who keeps in close touch with refugees bringing news from home.

The guerrillas cooperate with Yugoslav revolutionaries across the national border.

"The people's movements of the Balkan countries are coming closer and closer together," he said. "The troubles in Greece and Yugoslavia are having their repercussions in Bulgaria, where the people hate the Axis and resent the use of Bulgarian troops to police parts of Greece."

Italian jealousy of the Germans increases Hitler's difficulties in Greece, Mr. Christophorides went on.

"On the one hand the Italian fascist Government resents the fact that Hitler has taken most of the loot of Greece," he explained.

"On the other, refugees report, that 60 per cent of the Italian troops in Greece are anti-fascists. They often tell the peasants when the authorities are going to requisition cattle and other supplies. The result is the cattle are hidden in the mountains when agents arrive to seize them."

"The Greek people at home and in America are doing their bit towards the defeat of the Nazis," he concluded.

Point of Order: Arthur Osman, of Local 65, before some 5,000 Youth Congress followers, blamed Dave Livingston for this: "Time is an important factor. Workers always strike against their bosses, during the busy time of the season. Hitler is the most hated boss of them all, and he's plenty busy right now on the Eastern Front. So let's strike immediately, on the Western Front." The youthful audience roared their approval of this good trade-union sense.

Dear Alan—Hitler's Gaudier for Chicago, Col. McCormack, wants to make out that he isn't scared by the growing boycott movement against the Tribune, or by the plans to establish pro-American and anti-Hitler morning paper here. So he mentions them both in his columns and tries to laugh them off. His latest shot of humor was to place an item about the new paper on the obituary page. But whose obituary is in the cards, Colonel? Most Chicagoans hope the new paper will be another nail in the coffin of Hitler's biggest newspaper. "Millions for Defense, but not two cents for the Tribune" is the password for Chicago patriots these days.

The newspapers are back on the stands, but for a while "no Daily News was good news." M. B.

Letters From Our Readers

The Main Point

St. Louis, Mo.

Editor, Daily Worker:

Several weeks ago I received a copy of "The Soviet Power" from a friend and was very much impressed by it. The information I obtained from the book coincides with many of the things I have heard from time to time regarding Russia from other people, but which I have searched for in vain in the daily newspapers and which in some points is even contradicted. In fact I have heard so many different views on the subject that I am confused. Even now, the "tempest in a teapot" regarding religion in Russia as edited by the daily papers is confusing. The main point, in my estimation, seems to have been dropped or crowded out and the subject has become either completely ignored or has degenerated into a political "hot potato."

It is my opinion that a subject such as this should have no bearing whatsoever on the one fact that we must do everything regardless of creed or belief, in our power to help Russia defeat Hitler.

For the greater part of my working life, I worked as a baker but gave it up in disgust because it seems so futile to spend so much time learning a trade such as that and then being forced to accept night work at wages that did not nearly compare with other trades that require less apprenticeship, but which are strongly unionized. The job I have now does not pay very much, but it is at least day work and does not require extensive training.

No Time for Quibbling

Avoca, N. Y.

Editor, Daily Worker:

Be it to the everlasting shame of the United States that we stand and quibble over aid to Russia at this critical time, forgetting the great sacrifices of the Russian people.

Let Americans cultivate some intellectual honesty, and render at least justice to the greatest democracy in the world today—the USSR.

CHANGE THE WORLD

Publisher of the Daily News
Admits Money Contribution
To 'America First' Committee
By MIKE GOLD

JOSEPH M. PATTERSON, corrupt old millionaire cynic who publishes a corrupt tabloid, the "Daily News," suffers the common disease of those who walk the Nazi road. Nazi is another name for scoundrel and liar; and the mind of Patterson has become as crooked as the swastika he would not object, as a "neutral," to see flying over the White House and the world.

In a recent issue of his paper, Patterson admits with the bland, innocent air of all Nazi diplomacy that he has made money contributions to "America First," and that this should be sufficient proof that the Nazi government has not made similar contributions. (Which is like having Richard Whitney testifying as a character witness for Al Capone!)

"We don't belong to 'America First,'" says the old hypocrite, who thinks he can fool anyone. "From our observation of it, we believe that its members have but one common aim, whatever their individual differences; and that this single common aim is to keep American boys from being drafted and sent to die in foreign countries in a war which does not concern the United States."

Then this old hypocrite invites an investigation of the finances and secret connections of America First. "Stop, Thief!" shouts the pickpocket on the run.

Mr. Patterson will get his investigation soon. The Nazi connections of America First are becoming as obvious as the calling-card of a skunk.

Hitler's tactics are too familiar by now. Before Hitler invades a country, he tries to undermine it from within. America is his target at the moment; and "America First" is the peculiar national form in which the Hitler campaign for American disunity and defeat has been cast.

But there will be an investigation, Mr. Patterson. You will undoubtedly be one of those investigated. Can you survive an examination? America will survive, however; it can never be conquered by the likes of you and your vile masters in Berlin.

For this innocent old Hitler "pacifist," Patterson, let me submit a report recently made by the American Committee of the American Legion of the State of California.

After seven months of investigation, the American Legion found enough facts to put into a 19-page document which concludes that "America First" has many native Californian Nazis and fascists in its leadership, and is the sponsor of "a policy of the indiscriminate spread of hatred, confusion, dissension, defeatism and various other elements of a propaganda line set down by the Nazi government for its agents in the United States."

There couldn't be much stronger talk than that. The Legion doesn't generalize; it names names. It presents a gallery of California fascists who have been working their heads off for "America First." They are all "pacifists," certainly; just like old dog-fearing Joe Patterson. They agree with Hitler that it would be a crime to have America go to war just when Hitler seemed to be winning his own war against Europe and Asia.

Among those on the American Legion brown-list are the following: Herman Max Schwinn, former director of the German-American Bund. This "pacifist" is charged with having "openly cooperated and aided in the operation of the America-First picket line at the Hollywood Bowl which Wendell Wilkie spoke in behalf of national unity." As a Nazi, Schwinn's American citizenship was revoked in 1939—now he is an America First leader and organizer.

Francis K. Perens is a "distributor of Nazi books and films—operates a bookshop which is a Nazi propaganda channel, has published a swastika-covered volume of essays entitled 'Hitler,' and was tabbed a 'propaganda agent for the Nazi government' in Los Angeles Superior Court. At present, says the American Legion, this Nazi spy "is one of the most active workers in the America First movement in California."

Benjamin Franklin Ballard, organizer of fascist American Guards, is chairman of the downtown chapter of America First. "His talks to America First meetings are openly anti-Semitic." "American Guards advocate the abolition of trade unions."

G. Allison Phelps, alias G. Phelps, "radio hate-inciter and author of a publication announced by Nazi-financed Flinders Hall publishing house, regularly advertises America First meetings over his radio programs."

T. W. Hughes, conductor of German-American Bund auxiliary, League to Save America First, is also reported to participate in policy meetings of America First Committee leaders. His book, "The Truth About England," is distributed through the Aryan Bookstore, located in the notorious Nazi headquarters, Deutsche Haus.

William P. Williams, publisher of anti-Semitic leaflets which he circulated through America First channels, is head of the North Hollywood Chapter of America First.

John L. Riemer, advertiser America First in connection with his business of mailings of Nazi propaganda. Before the McCormack congressional committee, this Riemer admitted that the German consul paid part of the cost of these mailings.

Such are your bedfellows in America First, Mr. Patterson. You defend them as honest Americans with but "one common aim, which is to keep American boys from being drafted and sent to die in foreign countries." You are a putrid old liar, Mr. Patterson. There may be some honest dupes who have been taken in by the phony pacifism of the organization. But southern California is a sample slice of the true and terrible facts. America First is now largely controlled by Hitler. It is his organ for spreading anti-Semitism, Nazism, disunity and defeat in America. It must be investigated and crushed, and like Hitler, it will be, soon, very soon.

On the Score Board

By Lester Rodney

Here we go into our third week of Peerless Pigskin Prophecy. Last week seven of our twenty selections bit back at us, but on the opening week we hit 13 out of 15, so the fairly grand total is 26 right and 9 wrong for an average of .740, which is 310 more than the much talked about Ted Williams hit for the Boston Red Sox and .80 more than the Brooklyn Dodgers' winning percentage in the National League. Not to mention slightly better than the average of most of the seers of the other sports sections, if not quite as good as our own Nat Low's (he hit 16 of 20 in his first try). Modest stuff, eh?

Starting with the easy ones—Minnesota over Michigan. They call the former the "Golden Gophers." Actually, they're a bunch of big, strong lads from the state of lakes and big Farmer-Labor parties who go to make up what is quite possibly the nation's toughest football team. Minnesota is one of the few big universities that doesn't go beyond the borders of its own state for its footballers. The talent is deep enough, with few of the local high school stars hitting the road in the manner of Ohio boys winding up at Georgia and Indiana boys fighting on for Southern California's victory. All of this may or may not be interesting but it doesn't get us to an expert discussion of the game and the reasons why we like Minnesota over also unbeaten Michigan. Do you really want to know? How interesting is early season expert dope on the fast-changing and not too well known college personnel anyhow? Buy a copy of the Football Magazine and you'll know as much as we do. Bruce Smith is the big boy for the Gophers, sophomore Kuzma and plunger Westfall the Michigan threats. Both teams have good lines, both are well-coached in the most modern, resourceful styles by Bernie Bierman and Fritz Crisler. Minnesota is a little deeper in manpower.

Let's get on with the job. Northwestern-Olio State. Here we're torn two ways. The Northwestern is a good team and apt to be rebounding from its close defeat by Michigan last week, especially since another would put them out of the Big Ten race. Ohio State is coming back hard and strong under the capable guidance of Paul Brown, hasn't been beaten yet and had its healthy scare from Purdue last week. We'll take Northwestern hesitantly on the theory that when two good Big Ten teams meet and one is unbeaten, the beaten team is the better bet.

Purdue should prevail over TCU as our more conservative papers would say. Coach Jim Crowley says his Jimmy Blumenstock is the best back in the land and James isn't known for rash statements in a football way. The Rams may have that unbeaten season.

We'd love to pick NYU over Holy Cross and CCNY over Susquehanna, but our percentage is more important, so our best wishes to the locals and our votes to the outsiders. (Now just as we've given up on CCNY watch the fighting amateurs turn around and win.)

Columbia-Army—a tough one anyway you look at it... or even if you take it on the radio... and especially if you're Paul Governali fading back for a pass and being chased by the hard-driving, fast-charging Cadet line of Red Blak's—we'll call this the Army's. The Lion isn't quite what it figured to be on the ground. Snively is gone, and Siegal is hurt.

The other end of the service arm, the Navy, to wear down and beat a better-than-expected Harvard team, and we got through that one without anything about "snking," "broadside" and company.

Snapping up the pace if not the accuracy... Dartmouth to hang another one on Spike Nelson's green men in blue... Cornell to surprise Colgate... Duke to do shameful things to Pitt... Purdue to nip Iowa... Notre Dame to roll over Illinois in a high-scoring duel... Indiana to take Wisconsin... Tulane's powerhouse to crunch over Mississippi in a furious battle... Alabama to neglect Georgia's Columbia press clippings and beat Sinkwich and Co... Stanford to come back against Washington on Dave Farrell's info about UCLA banging the latter up... Oregon, none the less, to beat UCLA, Southern Cal. to get going against Cal... Vanderbilt to shellack the poor Princeton Tiger as badly as LaGuardia will beat the Tammany Tiger, and finally, for no good reason at all, Texas A. & M. to beat Baylor. That's twenty, isn't it?

Michigan-Minnesota Clash Tops Big Day

Jim Crow Hit as Boston U. Negro Stars Are Invited to Play in Baltimore Today

Precedent Broken After Students Protest, Presidents Confer via Telephone

A tremendous blow was struck at Jim Crow customs yesterday when Western Maryland University specifically invited Boston University to bring along its two Negro stars, Charlie Thomas and Howard Mitchell for today's game at Baltimore.

The Presidents of the two universities, President Marsh of Boston and Holloway of Western Maryland, engaged in a telephone conversation after protests had been heard from students against the "contractual clause" that would have kept the two Negro stars from playing. They announced that the decision was prompted by "sportsmanship and good feeling" and that it would govern all future relations between the two schools.

Two years ago, in a similar situation, Thomas was benched at the request of Western Maryland.

Last year there was a tremendous student campaign at Harvard against the refusal of a Naval Academy officer to allow a Harvard Negro lacrosse player to take part in a game at Annapolis.

It was announced early this year that the contract with Western Maryland called for Boston U. to bench its two Negro stars, but the action of the students and the Presidents and the whole growing fight to wipe out discrimination at a time when national unity is so important broke through precedent.

The Daily Worker sports page is famous as the most honest, hard hitting and interesting in town. With the inside angle the other papers don't give you.

Grid Bears Go Back to School

The Chicago Bears are the most powerful football team ever assembled, yet they grow less mercurial each week.

The power, speed and deception the fans see on Sunday is traced to the drills that Coach Halas and his assistants put the players through every morning, three hours at a time. In addition, three nights a week a skill session is held for them and none are excused, except for illness.

Halas and his staff meet the other nights to smooth out their game plans.

For instance, the Bears used eight separate defensive formations designed solely to halt Don Hutson, the great Packer end, in the Green Bay game. None stopped him, but you can't say the Bears weren't trying.

Each Tuesday every player must give Halas a written report of his opponent's assignments on offense and defense... Failure to do so results in an automatic fine of $10, one of many levied for shortcomings. Those Bears aren't a football team, they're big business.

He Did It!

Both Unbeaten; Rams Risk Perfect Record vs. TCU Here Today

Columbia Travels to Army, NYU at Holy Cross, CCNY at Susquehanna—Northwestern Threatens Ohio State

Capacity crowds were expected today at dozens of stadiums as the football season reaches its peak with great games in almost every section of the country.

Here in the city, the Horned Frogs of Texas Christians, getting their land-legs after the gruelling haul from the Lone Star state, are reported in top shape for their tussle with Jim Crowley's ambitious and powerful Fordham Rams.

Although the Rams are 8-5 over the Texans, the boys from badlands will make it tough, very tough. Jim Blumenstock, whom Coach Crowley rates as the best back in the country is ready for another sterling performance.

The other local teams are on the road. At West Point the Lions, fighting back after last week's loss to Georgia, face the much improved, and dark-horse Army Cadets.

N.Y.U. AT HOLY CROSS

Up at Worcester, Mass., the N.Y.U. Violets try to get back into the win column at the expense of Holy Cross. Holy Cross is the better favorite, but the Violets may be the especially if Len Bates continues the form he has shown in the past weeks.

The big game of the day is the titanic struggle between Michigan and Minnesota at Ann Arbor. These two unbeaten are playing for what may amount to the big nine championship and probably ranking as the nation's best.

At game time Minnesota ruled a slight favorite. Another meeting between Big Nine teams that ought to make the ground swell and heave is the clash of Ohio State and Northwestern at Columbus.

Although the Wildcats were knocked out of the unbeaten column last week by Michigan, Lynn Waldor's boys have the more experienced outfit with DeCorvent, Graham, etc... The Wildcats, at pre-game time were given a slight edge over the Buckeyes of young Mr. Paul Brown.

OTHER GOOD GAMES

Other fine games scheduled for the day's festivities are the games between Georgia and Alabama, Tulane and Mississippi, Navy and Harvard, Texas and Rice, and Notre Dame and Illinois.

Little City College enjoys a train ride to Beltsville, Pa., where they tackle the equally small Susquehanna, and over at Brooklyn College, Lou Oshin's boys try to sharpen up for their big game with traditional rival City College, taking on St. Lawrence.

The Brooklyn eleven is slightly stronger this year, and should give the upstarters a good tussle.

As a special attraction, the Brooklyn game will be preceded by a fine contest between two of the best high schools teams in the city, as Erasmus Hall takes on New Utrecht.

Giants Favored Over Dodgers

The New York grid Giants take the subway to Brooklyn to-morrow in the renewal of the annual inter-city feud... when they tackle the Dodgers at Ebbett's Field.

The Dodgers have lost three straight and are aiming to clip the wings of the league leading Polo Grounders who will trot on the field with Ed Danowski, the old Fordham passing wizard, back in a Giant uniform... The Giants are in top shape for the tussle and are big favorites to take Jock Sutherland's boys...

Ace Parker, backbone of the Dodger's offense, will play despite the injury that knocked him out of last week's game with the Cardinals.
